THE HEALTHIEST AND PLEASANT-

24th December the fast sailing white oak built ship Clarissa Perkins, Captain Goodrich, will be dispatched to Realego, with passengers for New York, via the Lakes of Nicaragua.

ounding in the finest fruits, oranges, pine apples, melons, plantains, bananas, etc., and provisions of every kind.

A ride of three days from Realego, thro'
the fine cities of Leon and Granada, and Maraya and Nicaragua, brings the passengers to the waters communicating with the Gulf of Mexico.

Passengers will be conducted across under the guidance of A. Y. Bequer, Esq., an Pacific News for the Steamer.

We shall publish, on Monday morning next, in time for the mail by the steamer The Pacific News for the Atlantic Coast, which will contain a full summary of the news of the month. All the details of the recent fire in San Francisco, will be illustrated by a carefully prepared diagram of the burnt district. On our Extra Supplemental sheet, we shall give the Inaugural Address and the first Message of Governor Burnett, together with other information respecting the organization of the State Government. We would inform our friends who may wish to obtain this number of our paper, that a large portion of our limited edition has already been engaged, and that their orders for the copies they may wish to procure, should be left with us, if possible, at an early hour to-day.

Annexation of the Canadas to the United States.

The last steamer brought us news of a movement in Canada, which has long been anticipated, both in England and in the United States.

A large party in favor of immediate annexation was forming. "Annexation" and "Anti-State-Church Associations" had been projected, and prizes offered by them for the best Essays in support of the principles they advocate. Finally, the thing has been drawn towards a head by the issuing of an Address to the people of Canada.

The Address first states the grievances of the colonists; then enters into a discussion concerning the various remedies which had been offered, and, having given reasons why these remedies would prove futile, proposes, in the third place, "A friendly and peaceful separation from British connection, and a union, upon equitable terms, with the great North American confederacy of sovereign States." It concludes with its reasons for proposing this remedy for the evils under which the provinces are laboring, and exhorts the colonists, without distinction of party, to combine together for the accomplishment of the end proposed.

The main points of grievance, as summed up in the Address, seem to be the following: On account of "the reversal of the ancient policy of Great Britain, whereby she withdrew from the colonies their wonted protection in her markets," the most disastrous effects have been produced upon Canada. Her commerce and agriculture are languishing; her circulating capital is fast disappearing; her government is embarrassed, while her public credit has so depreciated that she can only effect a loan on the most ruinous conditions; her splendid rivers and canals are almost unused; her many water privileges and cheap labor avail nothing in point of domestic manufactures; and, in short, a general torpor has settled upon the whole country, while she cannot but look upon the prosperity of the adjoining States with chagrin. Another cause of grievance is couched in the following terms in the Address:

"Our present form of Provincial Government is cumbrous and so expensive as to be ill-suited to the country; and the necessary reference it demands to a distant government, imperfectly acquainted with Canadian affairs, and somewhat indifferent to our interests, is anomalous and irksome. Yet, in the event of a rupture between two of the most powerful nations of the world, Canada would become the battle field and the sufferer, however little her interests might be involved in the cause of quarrel, or the issue of the contest."

Having thus stated the grievances of Canada, the Address takes up and discusses the five principal remedies which have been proposed. It concludes that, first, "the revival of protection in the markets of the United Kingdom" can hardly be expected from the Empire, and, even if obtained, would prove but a partial remedy. Second, "that the protection of home manufactures, although it might encourage the growth of a manufacturing interest in Canada, yet, without access to the United States market, there would not be a sufficient expansion of that interest, from the want of consumers, to work any result that could be admitted as a 'remedy' for the numerous evils of which they complain."

Third, that "A Federal Union of the British American Provinces, would not be productive of a diminished governmental expenditure; and that the consequent free trade between the different provinces would be of but little value, since their markets are too limited to absorb the means of supply in Canada." Fourth, that were "the Independence of the British North American colonies, as a Federal Republic" brought about, "the consolidation of its new institutions from elements hitherto so discordant—the formation of treaties with foreign powers—the acquirement of a name and character among the nations—would prove an over-match for the strength of the new Republic."

After giving its reasons why the fifth remedy, viz: "reciprocal free trade with the United States, as respects the products of the farm, the forest and the mine" would prove useless, it proposes its own remedy, which we have stated above.

We regret that we have not room to enter largely into the reasons alleged for this proposed step. We can only sum them up as follows: that could Canada be annexed to the United States, her lands would rise to nearly double their present value; her institutions would become stable; her public credit would be restored; capital would flow freely into her midst; manufactories and railways would spring up all over the land, and an entire new life would be infused into the whole country.

The Address was at first signed by upwards of three hundred of the most respectable citizens of Montreal; shortly afterwards, the number of names increased to twelve hundred. Several influential Tory papers of the same city, have taken strong ground in favor of the movement. Although there is much excitement in Upper Canada, still Lower Canada is where the fever for annexation rages with most violence. According to the last accounts, the leaders were waiting to learn what effect the Address would have upon the minds of the community at large. Meanwhile Brother Jonathan rests quietly—tarrying for the issue of the difficulties between the provinces and England.

Although the Canadas are a source of much trouble and expense to the mother country, yet we cannot think that England will, without a violent struggle, yield her foothold along our northern borders, and give to her other powerful colonies so dangerous a precedent as the admitting of the independence of a disaffected province. The next steamer cannot fail to bring us news of great import.

THE REPORTED DISCOVERY AND RESCUE OF SIR JOHN FRANKLIN.—In this matter, upon which the most ardent sympathies of Christendom have been expressed for the ultimate rescue of this noble-hearted navigator and his comrades, an item of intelligence has just come to our knowledge, which, though it may have no adequate foundation in fact, we deem it proper to give it just as it was received by us. A gentleman just from Mazatlan, and formerly connected with an independent yacht expedition from England, informs us that the British Consul at Mazatlan told him, that Sir John Franklin had been discovered by an English expedition on the Atlantic passage, in Prince Regent's Inlet, where he had been frozen in nearly four years. The weather during the greater part of that period had been unusually cold, even for that high latitude; while that of the past year has been, on the contrary, warmer than usual. On this account the expedition referred to, has been able, it is said, to penetrate the icy barrier and rescue the unfortunate adventurers. The gentleman who gave us the information, is of the highest respectability; and although the facts he gave us were surprising to us, they were related with such a degree of caution, and so evident a desire to avoid all exaggeration, that we are induced, in the absence of other information, to regard them as probably accurate. However this may be, the report at least gives room to hope that this heroic navigator and his companions have escaped the dreadful fate, which it has been so long feared that they had encountered.

RESIGNATION.—Mr. Henry A. Harrison, of the Ayuntamiento, has handed in his resignation to that body. He is to be absent from our city for a few months.

Correspondence from the Mines.

We have received from a Mr. John V. Berry, of Iowa, a communication under date of Dec. 22d, from which we make the following extract. Mr. Berry is located on the Yuba River, about twelve miles above Rosa's Ranch, and about two miles and a half below Rosa's Bar:

"Since the beginning of November, we have had heavy rain storms for a greater part of the time. These rains have caused the Yuba to rise and fall alternately every few days, and now, while I am writing, it is higher than it has been at any time this fall and winter, and I am told more swollen than at any time during the last winter. The diggers have been able to do but little in the way of getting out gold, in this section of the gold region, in consequence of the rains, and are, therefore, doing but a sorry business. Provisions are high, and all that are now brought up to the mines, are packed by mules from the mouth of the Yuba, to which point they are transported in flat boats. Day before yesterday, I learned that a steam boat had arrived at the Yuba, and had come up to within about eight miles of this place, freighted with goods.

Messrs. Ferguson & Co., two enterprising and successful miners, from Putnam County, New York, have gone into the trading business during the winter, in consequence of being unable to work their mine during the high water. Their mine is very rich, whenever it is so that the water will permit them to work.—There are a great many persons located on this river, within ten miles of the place from where I write, among whom are several families from Iowa, Wisconsin and Illinois. Most of them, I understand, are here only during the winter, and intend making an early start in the spring, for the upper part of the river and its tributaries. Many of the miners have been sick with the scurvy, and a great many have left the mines in consequence of that terrible affliction. Some have left also, for fear of getting it, and have gone home to the States. Sickness and death are not so prevalent here as one would naturally be inclined to suppose, when seeing the exposed manner in which all have to live. For most live in tents or huts, unsuitable abodes for men, who have been accustomed to civilized society, its comforts and conveniences."

The writer of the letter from which the above is an extract, also informs us, of the death of one of the miners in his vicinity, who, during his illness, did not make his name known. After his decease, his name was found to be "Reid" or "Reed." He was from Blackstone, Mass. He died of consumption, having received from his neighbors all possible attention and kindness during his illness. Our correspondent desires us to call the attention of our Eastern Exchanges to the fact of Mr. Reid's death; deeming this the readiest way in which to communicate the information to the friends of the deceased.

JACKSONVILLE, (Woods' Creek,) December 15, 1849.

To the Editors of the Pacific News:

GENTLEMEN—Not having seen, in your paper, any account of our diggings, from any of your correspondents, I thought that a short description of them might not be uninteresting to your numerous readers. Jacksonville is a romantic spot, situated in a deep valley, at the junction of Woods' Creek with the Tuolumne. The diggings extend to the distance of ten miles, up and down the river, and fifteen miles up the creek from this point. The gold in the creek is coarse, but that in the river is fine. Several hundred persons are wintering here and in the vicinity. They are able to average half an ounce per day, and some as high as one and two ounces. The distance from Stockton to this place is sixty-five miles. Provisions are rather high, but as the road to Stockton is passable all winter, and large stocks are already in at this point, they must come down. Flour has sold as high as 62½ cts. per lb., pork 75 cents, and other things in proportion. The weather, thus far, has been delightful, but we have had a few stormy days. Quere? why is it that it is pleasant here in the mountains, while at the north, and on the plains, it is one continual storm? Can it be owing to the attraction of our high mountains for the clouds? This portion of the country is broken, but, I think, presents the most extensive and eligible area for winter diggings in California. For spring and summer operations it cannot be surpassed. Game is very plentiful, so much so as to reduce the price of beef fifty per cent. The water is clear and wholesome, and, I think, the health of the inhabitants better than the same number of persons could possibly enjoy, under similar circumstances, in any part of the United States. But, as editors are averse to long communications, I will close, with the promise of keeping you 'posted up' in everything new and interesting in this part of El Dorado. Yours, respectfully,

B. D. B.

LOCAL MATTERS.

[In consequence of the continued illness of our City Reporter, we have, temporarily, engaged another gentleman, formerly connected with the press of New York city, to act in that capacity. We hope our friends will render him every facility.]—Ed. PACIFIC NEWS.

COURT OF FIRST INSTANCE—CIVIL CASES.—Hon. Wm. B. Almond, Judge.—On Thursday last, the case of Jose P. Santillan, priest at the Mission of Dolores, vs. A. F. Moses, a Mexican, was called up for trial. This was an action of ejectment, brought by the priest, to recover possession of a portion of the Mission buildings, which defendant had obtained permission of plaintiff to occupy, but which he refused to vacate when requested to do so by the authority that placed him there, on the ground that all church property in California reverted to the United States, and that he, the defendant, or his assigns, held by pre-emption. After remaining over several hours, and being unable to agree upon a verdict, the jury were discharged.

F. Guerrero vs. F. W. Hahne.—This is one of the numerous cases growing out of the squatters' claims in the vicinity of the Mission. From the evidence adduced, the plaintiff proved a clear title, dated 1846, from the Mexican military commandant, Gen. Gautierrez, then exercising supreme civil as well as military functions in Upper California. The defence was, that the land did not belong to plaintiff, inasmuch as his title was only an assumed one, and that he had not, at any time, occupied or improved it; whereas defendant had taken possession as a squatter, erected a building upon the land, and commenced improvements, and therefore claimed a title. Verdict for the plaintiff, and defendant granted leave to remove his building, &c.

John Cline vs. Pacific Mail Steamship Company.—This is a suit for damages for injuries sustained by plaintiff, in consequence of non-fulfilment of contract by defendants, which is postponed.—The declaration of plaintiff alleges that he purchased a through ticket in New York, and, on arriving at Panama, presented himself to the agents of the steamers there, at the time specified by them in their published notice. Here, with several others, he was placed on board a canoe, inefficiently manned, to be conveyed on board the steamer, then lying some three miles distant in the bay; but in consequence of the violence of the wind, the inefficiency of the hands to manage the canoe, and the refusal on the part of the steamer to render them assistance, they were driven down the coast some fifty miles. Connected with this case are a number of thrilling statements, which we trust, for the sake of humanity, have been over-colored. However, as but one side of the case has been presented, and there may be extenuating circumstances, we refrain from giving farther particulars, until the matter is in actual adjudication.

DISTURBANCE at the Graham House.—On Thursday evening last, in consequence of a misunderstanding between Mr. Graham, proprietor of the Graham House, and Mr. Bonner, one of the lessees, pistols were drawn, and several shots exchanged between them. Mr. Bonner received a shot in the shoulder, and is now confined to his bed. We refrain from giving particulars, till the affair shall be judicially investigated.

We regret to observe such frequent evidences of an almost utter disregard of human life, as is manifested in our public rooms from day to day, and we hope the authorities will promptly adopt such measures as will, in future, effectually put a stop to such occurrences.

We are happy to hear, since the above was written, that a reconciliation has taken place between Col. Graham and Mr. Bonner.

OLYMPIC CIRCUS.—We were pleased to meet with a full audience on the occasion of Mrs. Rowe's benefit, on Thursday evening; and it must have been as gratifying to the feelings of the beneficiary as it was remunerative.

ADDITIONAL LOSSES BY THE FIRE.—S. S. Moore & Co., $6,050; Moore, Hart & Lalland, $5,500.

CORONER'S INQUEST.—Sheriff Towne, yesterday, held an inquest upon the body of Charles Dupont Shubrick, son of Commander Shubrick, U. S. N., lately deceased at Philadelphia. Deceased was present at the late fire, and received a severe wound in the face; since that period he appears to have indulged in dissipation; which, together with the fact that his neckerchief was so tightly bound round the neck as to be sufficient to induce partial strangulation, was no doubt the main cause of death. Verdict, death from apoplexy.

SUPPOSED SUICIDE OR MURDER.—Considerable excitement existed yesterday in consequence of the discovery of a large pool of blood, immediately at the end of Mellus, Howard & Co's. buildings, on Long Wharf. Two persons were known to have slept in that place on Wednesday night; and it is supposed that either suicide or murder was committed, and the body thrown into the river. Future events may unravel the mystery.

THE BURNT DISTRICT is rapidly emerging from the chaotic state in which it has been placed by the late calamity, and before another week shall have passed, we should not be surprised to see a number of the houses now in process of erection filled with merchandise, and full of business. Success to American enterprise!—truly, we are a progressive people. J. B. D.

From San Jose.

By a letter from San Jose, we learn that on December 25th, being Christmas day, nothing was done at the Legislature. The House adjourned over to yesterday, and the Senate to Wednesday last. The subject of moving the seat of government was much agitated among the members; and the bill, or resolution, to that effect, will probably be called up at the first opportunity. Many doubts are, however, entertained as to its success.

¶ We learn that the Hon. Nathaniel Bennett, having been appointed Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, has resigned his seat in the State Senate. The nomination of Wm. Van Voorhies, as Secretary of State, having been confirmed by the Legislature, he has also resigned his seat in the House of Delegates.

¶ We are requested to state that the steamer Oregon will leave for Panama on Tuesday morning, Jan. 1st, at 7 o'clock, A. M., and not on Wednesday, as advertised. Passengers are requested to be on board on Monday evening.

GOLD IN INDIANA.—It has been announced, in several papers published in this state, that Mr. Grigg, of Morgan co., has discovered a gold mine on his land. The Brookville American says it has reliable information confirming the statement, and states that the deposits are in the banks of White River, and have been worked by Mr. G. for a number of years. Recently, however, a larger force has been employed, and we are told the profits have been amply remunerative. Mr. G. obtained his knowledge of an old pioneer and hunter, named Wetzel, an eccentric character, who, probably, did not impart the same information to another living person. It is supposed he obtained his knowledge of the deposits from the Indians.—[New Albany (In.) Bul.

THE PACIFIC RAILWAY.—In view of the considerable contention now going on between Chicago, St. Louis and Memphis respecting the starting point of the proposed railway to the Pacific, a St. Louis paper calls attention to the important fact that if the road should start from St. Louis it will connect with Mobile, by the Mobile and Ohio railroad, with Charleston and Savannah, by the Nashville and Chattanooga road, with Richmond, by the Richmond and Nashville road, with Philadelphia, by the great central route, and with New York and Boston, by the Lake route. It is believed to be impossible for any other starting point to combine such advantages.—[Ex. paper.
